

June Court Marked By Great Business

Monday was county court day. A large crowd was in the city. Everybody was in high spirits. About 6,000 cattle were on the market, the greater number coming from Eastern Kentucky, and the purchasers were largely made up of farmers from counties adjacent to Montgomery county.

The trade was slightly draggy. About 1,500 head were left in the pens to find a market today. Prices ran as follows: A few choice steers brought 7 1-2 cents; canners were slow at 1 1-2 cents; cutters brought 2 and 2 1-2 cents; fat cows that weighed 1,000 pounds brought 4 cents; good steers brought 4 1-2 to 5 cents, and those that brought more money came under the fancy grades. Fat cattle were in demand and active at 4 cents.

J. M. Adams purchased of John McMahon two black horses at $150; one 7-year-old gray gelding from Bert McCarty for $85; a 6-year-old saddle from J. L. Faulkner at $200. P. B. Penny, of Ashland, bought a number of plug horses at prices ranging from $35 to $75.

It was a busy day with horse flesh and many were sold, bringing under the hammer $15 and the rise. These horses were low grade plugs.

En route from the pens we observed Nat Young with a purchase of 67 nice steers that weighed 325 pounds and for which he paid 6 cents.

T. B. Hill secured 30 head of fancy steers that weighed from 500 to 1,000 pounds, for which he paid 4 to 7 cents.

Some cattle came from Big Goose creek, Clay county.

There were 350 head of sheep unsold and for which 7 cents was rejected.

J. H. Rogers, of Grayson county, aged about 75 years, was here and said the like number of cattle on a court day was a curiosity to him. Mr. Rogers is here, the guest of Rev. Olaus Hamilton and his nephew, J. Y. Rogers.

Mules were plentiful, but slow of sale at from $60 to $125. A few extra good ones went at $150.

Merchants were elated over the day's work. The many business visitors to the city made things lively. Collections were normal and everybody seemed highly pleased with the day's work.

Deep-Well Oil Test

A few weeks ago we made mention that parties, experts in bringing in oil wells, were here and would sink a test well to the depth of 4,000 feet or more.

C. E. Ledford informs us that the company will be organized here Saturday; that they have secured about 3,000 acres of leases and as soon as they reach 5,000 acres the drilling will begin.

The drilling outfit to be used is capable of going 10,000 feet. The parties are elated over the prospects of a rich oil find.

Locals Win Thursday; Meet Defeat Sunday

The Mt. Sterling Essex won their third straight game at the local lot last Thursday afternoon, when they defeated the Cynthiana outfit to the tune of 4 to 1. Townsend was on the mound for the locals and twirled his usual splendid game. The entire team played airtight ball, the catching of Monk and the hitting of Ellis, Potts and Monk being features of the game.

On Sunday, however, it was an entirely different story. The Winchester Dodgers were the attraction here and the largest crowd ever in the park was present. Before the game started the locals were confident of victory and the Winchester outfit seemed equally certain they were doomed to defeat. In the very first inning the Essex started the ball rolling and managed to put two tallies across the plate after two were down. Frank started the game for Mt. Sterling, but had to be taken out after the first inning on account of tearing a ligament loose in his pitching arm which will likely keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. This will indeed be a hard blow to the local club, as he was going strong. "Lefty" Townsend was then put in to finish the game and under the circumstances put up a remarkable exhibition as he had already twirled seven innings in batting practice and with any kind of support at all would have won the game. It seemed to be an off day for the entire team as errors were frequent and always came at the critical time. Barks, who has heretofore always been master of all balls which came in the direction of second, was credited with three errors, while his teammates did little better. Taveher, who was on the mound for Winchester, twirled a wonderful game, only allowing the locals four hits in nine innings. When the Essex came to the bat in the last of the ninth the score was 6 to 3 in favor of Winchester and many fans left the park. However, the strain had proven too much for Taveher and he seemed to lose absolute control of the ball in this frame, giving two bases on balls and hitting a batter, which, coupled with an error by himself and a hit, tied the score. At this juncture Taveher was jerked and Jene Freeman substituted. He proved master of the situation, retiring the side without any scoring and continuing through the twelfth, only allowing one hit while he was on the mound. The locals had many opportunities to score, but our batters seemed absolutely at the mercy of the Dodger hurlers. It was simply an off day for the entire team, and now that they have gotten it out of their system, we may look for some more winning ball. The score by innings follows:

Winchester 010 010 211 002—8
Mt. Sterling 201 000 033 000—6

Other Games Sunday

Lexington defeated Cynthiana to the tune of 8 to 4 in the Harrison county capital, while Paris mopped up with Maysville, winning by a score of 12 to 4. In the latter game Maysville made 13 errors, while Paris made 18 hits, knocking Shaw and Elinemad to all corners of the lot, and incidentally putting Maysville into a tie with Lexington for first place.

Lexington Here Thursday
The Lexington team, which is now possibly going stronger than any other team in the circuit, will make its initial appearance on the local lot Thursday afternoon and a record-breaking week-day crowd is expected to be present and see the Fayette lads "bite the dust," as Mt. Sterling has always been a tough proposition for the Studebakers.

The body will be brought here for burial Wednesday and the funeral service will be conducted at the grave in St. Thomas cemetery. The exact hour of the funeral is not known at this time. Baumont Hotel Changes Hands

Judge H. Clay McKee, as representative of Edgar Baume and Mrs. Adam Baume, sold Monday to H. C. Ledford, of Middletown, Ohio, the Baumont Hotel, a vacant lot east and a business house west for $18,000, equivalent to cash.

The building will be modernized and the hotel will be conducted by C. E. Ledford, a son of H. C. Ledford. The work on the hotel will begin at an early date and rushed to completion. Mr. Ledford said he could not tell the extent of the improvements. He promised the public, however, a first-class hotel, and said it would be so conducted that the traveling public would be glad when it reached Mt. Sterling.

Va., and two to South Carolina, making each trip on foot. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. Bud Woods, and from his appearance should live for many more years. In his early days he drove a wagon, hauling goods between Paris and Maysville and is widely known in that section. He is said to be a very interesting personage and a fluent conversationalist.

PICTURE KNOWLEDGE

This is the title of a set of books, in six volumes, which is the most compact, complete and instructive book of its kind we have ever seen. It is a publication which should be in every home where there are children, for it is a teacher of all classes, from kindergarten to graduation. It deals in all subjects, and among its contributors are some of the greatest minds of this country. When a child has a theme to write this book is invaluable, for in it you will find articles on any and all subjects. The books are published by Compton-Johnson, of Chicago, and Miss Desmond is now in Mt. Sterling introducing the work. Let her explain it to you, and you will no doubt buy, and wonder how you have been able to get along without it.

A. B. Oldham, Jr., Weds Miss Goodrich

A wedding of more than usual interest took place in Cincinnati yesterday, when Miss Gwendolyn Goodrich, of Falmouth, became the bride of A. B. Oldham, Jr., of this city. The couple were accompanied to Cincinnati by Miss Thelma Blount, Sharpsburg, and James Bigstaff, of this city, who were the only witnesses to the ceremony. The bride wore a modish traveling suit of navy blue with hat to match, and her flowers were small pink rosebuds and stevia, arranged into a corsage. She comes of a prominent family and is a charming and cultured young woman and is a great favorite in social circles. For the past year she has been a member of the faculty of the Sharpsburg city schools.

Mr. Oldham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Oldham and is a member of the firm of Oldham & Son. He is a successful young business man and is one of Mt. Sterling's most popular and promising young men. After a short bridal trip, Mr. and Mrs. Oldham will return to this city and will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Oldham.

The Walsh Company Secures New Location

The Walsh Company has closed a contract with W. S. Lloyd for a long lease on his building located on South Maysville street and will get possession about August 15. This is one of the most desirable business houses in Mt. Sterling, is ideally situated in a part of the city given up to be the very best business center. Both the first and upper floors will be entirely remodeled and modernized in every particular, making a clothing house for men and boys second to none in Kentucky. An entirely new front will be put in, giving The Walsh Company 50 feet of front show windows. New fixtures will be added, an up-to-date furnace installed and nothing left undone to make this a store for men and boys unsurpassed in the state. An exclusive shoe department will be added for men, boys and children.

The new location will give them about three times the floor space of their present quarters and they propose to increase their stock to such an extent that they will live up to their motto at all times, "If You Can't Find it at Walsh's It Can't be Had in Men's and Boys' Wearing Apparel."

The president of The Walsh Company is John J. Walsh, who has been in the clothing business in Mt. Sterling for the last 30 years, and at the present location for the past 19 years. Under his able guidance the business of the concern has trebled within the past 10 years, and more floor space was an absolute necessity to meet the growing business of this enterprising concern. Other competent personages who compose the personnel of The Walsh Company and who have done much toward the growth of the concern are J. W. Burbridge, C. W. Howe, Louie M. Utz and Miss Esther Wilson, bookkeeper.

Such a store as conducted by The Walsh Company is a credit to any city and we are indeed proud to have such a live wire enterprise among the business concerns of Mt. Sterling, and feel confident they have made a wise decision as to their new location.

Mrs. Kate Dimmitt Dies Following Operation

Mrs. Kate Dimmitt, aged 79 years, died at the Mary Chiles Hospital this morning at 3 o'clock, following an operation for appendicitis about two weeks ago. Mrs. Dimmitt has been in poor health for some months and the operation was performed as a last resort in the hope that her life might be spared, but He that knoweth best saw different, and the life work of this good woman was brought to a close. Coming to this city from Bath county four or five years ago, Mrs. Dimmitt has endeared herself to the hearts of our people and was loved and admired for her true Christian personality. She

Maysville Boys' Band Will Play At Local Fair

The directors of the Montgomery County Fair last night closed a contract with the Maysville Boys' Band for the appearance of that famous musical organization here to furnish music for the coming fair. This band consists of 38 pieces and is considered by musical critics to be one of the really fine bands of America.

The Maysville Boys' Band played at the Ohio state fair last year and this year they will furnish the music for the Kentucky state fair at Louisville. Their appearance at Louisville and Mt. Sterling will be the only dates they will play in Kentucky this year, they having been booked solid in other states for the remainder of the fair season.

The J. F. Murphy Hippodrome and Exposition Shows have been signed to furnish the attractions on the midway. This organization cannot be compared with the so-called carnival companies which the fair-going public has been in the habit of seeing, it being far superior in size and class of amusement furnished and in the cleanliness and beauty of its equipment. Traveling in its own 30-car special train which will arrive in this city on Sunday afternoon, July 16, the management has extended a cordial invitation to the public of Mt. Sterling to come down, watch them unload and see the finest show train in America.

It seems that the public never tires of the balloon ascension and this year there will be one every day, Secretary Wilkerson having contracted with Daredevil Skibo to make an ascension each day. Skibo leaps from five different parachutes at each ascension.

Thursday has been officially designated as "Lexington Day" and a big crowd from that city will come up for the occasion. Every race on that day will be for a purse donated by Lexington firms.

From the entries coming in, it appears certain that there will be more and better runners, trotters and pacers here to compete for the handsome purses offered than ever before. The outlook is certainly auspicious for the biggest and best fair Mt. Sterling has ever had.

was a consecrated member of the Presbyterian church and her happiest hours were spent in the service of her Master. Since Mrs. Dimmitt has resided in Mt. Sterling it has been the privilege to know her personally and we can bear testimony that she was one of the finest old ladies we have ever known. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Had Berry, of Lincoln county, and Mrs. Grant North, of Salt Lick. She had one half-brother, Andrew Smathers, of Carlisle, and many nieces and nephews in this and Bath counties, among whom is W. S. Smathers, of this city. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of M. H. Vice on East High street, where she made her home, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Chas. Ray, with burial at Sharpsburg in Crown Hill cemetery.

BRED SOWS NEED GAIN IN WEIGHT BEFORE FARROWING

After being bred and before fall farrowing, mature brood sows should gain from 75 to 85 pounds in weight, swine breeders say. The gains made by yearlings during the summer should be more than this. These gains not only insure strong pigs and a good flow of milk after farrowing, but also offset the loss in weight of the sow during the farrowing and succeeding suckling period.

"During the first ten weeks following breeding, the sows should have enough grass or forage crops such as clover, alfalfa, Sudan grass, rape and oats to make any grain feed unnecessary," E. J. Wilford, a swine specialist of the College of Agriculture, pointed out. "This not only will result in economy of feeding, but also will be the means of giving the animals sufficient exercise and providing them with more healthful surroundings."

"During the last, six week of the gestation period, it will be necessary to give the animals a small amount of grain feed. How much is fed will depend largely upon the amount of extra flesh the animals are carrying. The judgment of the feeder will determine how much is to be given at any one time. Regardless of the amount of grain fed, some protein supplement such as tankage, linseed oil meal, shorts or middlings should be supplied.

"Ordinarily, sows which have lost their place in the breeding herd should be fattened before they are sent to market. Thirty days of intensive feeding will put them in condition to sell at a sufficient advantage to more than pay for the cost of fattening. In that time a mature sow should gain from 60 to 90 pounds. Gains on sows which are to be sent to market should require not more than five and one-half pounds of grain for every pound of gain, which with the usual prices, would insure a good profit for fattening."

The Advocate, twice-a-week.

CAUSES OF LOSS IN SHIPPING

Heavy losses resulting each summer from injury, death and shrinkage in shipments of livestock are caused largely by improper methods of handling the animals at shipping points, marketing specialists at the College of Agriculture say. Anything which adds to the comfort of animals in transit diminishes the danger of losses, their suggestions on shipping point out.

"Before having animals placed in them cars should be cleaned carefully and bedded with sand or some other similar bedding, the use of these being preferable to straw, sawdust and shavings," D. G. Card, one of the specialists, said. "Stock will reach the market in better condition if fed the usual amount of dry feed instead of being fed excessively just before shipping. Clubs, whips and poles should be eliminated as far as possible in loading animals as the use of these causes bruises and a consequent loss of meat."

"About twenty-one 1,000-pound steers may be loaded safely in a standard 36-foot car," he said. Danger of losses may be reduced by partitioning off bulls, vicious animals with horns, calves and cows with calves. Cattle fed on dry feeds a day or two previous to shipment will reach market in better condition than those allowed to fill up on water and grass.

From 80 to 100 hogs, depending upon their size, may be shipped in a single deck standard 36-foot car, from 16,000 to 17,000 pounds making a good carload in hot weather. In summer the bedding for hogs should be drenched thoroughly with water and in extremely hot weather, from five to eight hundred pounds of ice should be broken up and placed on the floor of the car or hung up in sacks. It is best to give them dry feed before shipping instead of filling them with water and swill as is often the case.

From 152 to 150 lambs may be loaded safely in a single deck standard 36-foot car.

American Legion News

National Commander Hanford MacNider, of the American Legion, has tentatively accepted an invitation to speak before the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic to be held at Des Moines, Ia., during the week of September 24. In his invitation to Commander MacNider, Lewis S. Flecher, commander-in-chief of the G. A. In a special degree we look upon them as the successors in promoting the highest spirit of patriotism in the country in the years to come."

Ex-service men and women who should be considered for medals of honors, distinguished service crosses and distinguished service medals for meritorious services during the world war will be considered for these awards until April, 1923, by a special act of congress passed upon the recommendation of the military affairs committee of the American Legion.

Reports coming into national headquarters from every section of the country indicate that American Legion membership day, July 1, will be eminently successful. Each legionnaire has been asked by National Commander Hanford MacNider to get at least one new member for the service men's organizations on that day.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

Every now an' then we hark back to the old copy book and remember the lines on the top. Who forgets "Example is better than precept," which means "Teach by doin' things, not by saying things?" Here's a whole bunch of us actin' as wise owls teaching the young what to do, tellin' 'em all sorts of things they don't believe because they see we're not carryin' 'em out ourselves. The reason we don't carry 'em out is because we've grown old and that's the greatest crime of all. Every man seems to wish he could start out in life with the knowledge and experience of middle age. Why not? We can't get the experience of age in child life, but we can drag back the simplicity an' truth of child life in the middle age. Mohamet can always go to the mountain.

The reason a woman wears sleeveless knee-length underwear in winter is because her husband would get pneumonia if he tried it.

It would surprise some wives to know what devoted husbands they have—when their husbands are with other men's wives.

The 1922 production of crimson clover seed is expected to be larger than last year's small crop, although it will not approach the heavy production of 1918 and 1919, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture.

A reformer is one who preaches by the mile and practices by the inch.

A FOOL AND DIDN'T KNOW IT

A merchant had been plying his business for years and meeting with a bunch of enterprising fellows, butted in and said, "How much do you pay for advertising?" to which each of the group replied, "Advertising is our largest overhead expense." To this the would-be merchant in a braggadocio manner said, "I have been in the business for ten years and have my first penny to spend with newspapers." "And how much more do you sell now per day as compared with what you did when you began business?" "Not so much," was the reply. "How is it with you?" "Just fifteen times more," said the advertisers. "Our business works us so that we long for the time when we are to take a restful vacation." "I don't have to work so hard as you," said the sluggard. "I can close my store at any time of the day for a rest without loss," and the fool, not knowing that he was a fool, ridiculed the wise men.

The wise men were the advertising group, with fresh up-to-date stocks, well bought, less cash discounts, well kept departments in perfect condition, money in the bank, investments of choice, while the so-called merchant had some of the same old stock, soiled from age, nothing new, bought on long-time at top prices, thoroughly unkept, spider-webbed and dust-corned rooms, a man, not much man, a merchant by name only, and listed with the fool-killers.

Such folks, with chairs in front of their stores as invitations to loafers, do not live long, but for a while only. Their motto is, "We do not advertise."

PEERING INTO THE PAST

Beginning with this issue of the Advocate, Dr. J. Pike Powers, a former and distinguished pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, begins a series of communications, recollections of 50 years ago. These articles will be not only of intense interest to the few left, but to succeeding generations. Our subscribers can be profited by clipping these most interesting memories and preserving them in their scrapbooks for future reference. Dr. Powers writes fluently from an accurate memory, giving a perfect photograph of incidents and citizens of the long ago. We are happy to give these most interesting contributions from the memory of this gifted writer, Rev. J. Pike Powers, D. D., L. L. D., now of Knoxville, Tenn.

FORMAL OPENING DAYTONA BEACH MEAT MARKET

The East Coast News of Daytona, Florida, says:

"The formal opening of the Daytona Beach Meat Market at their new location on Main street was one of the special events of Tuesday, June 13. The afternoon hours were filled with a throng of friends and customers, who were served with delicious frappe and cake, presided over by daintily dressed young ladies, the Misses Irene Hutchinson, Flora Race and Lucile Stewart. The firm consists of Messrs. W. T. Hancock, O. R. Nicholson and J. N. Frender, who have been conducting the meat market at an adjoining store before the purchase of their new headquarters. The peninsula interests have now acquired a thoroughly up-to-date cold storage machinery installed, insuring thorough storage plant, with the most modern machinery installed, insuring thorough sanitation and service. The cold storage room is both commodious and attractively arranged for the fresh shipments of meat from northern markets daily received. A semi-circular counter has been constructed in front, where choice steaks and other meats are displayed. Over the inner circle the genial proprietors are serving their large patronage and are receiving the well merited praise of the public between times."

Mr. Hancock is well and favorably known in Mt. Sterling, where he formerly resided.

To Whom It May Concern

On account of the many inquiries from the people as to why I write insurance and preach the Gospel, I take this means of explaining.

I represent the Kentucky Central Life and Accident Insurance Company, Incorporated, at Anchorage, Ky., with $300,000 deposited with the Treasurer of Kentucky to protect the contract I sell. I have deposited in the Montgomery National Bank the spot cash to take care of the claims. You don't have to leave Mt. Sterling for your money. I insure you against sickness, accident and death at a small cost, in the reach of everyone. I get a salary to support a wife and six children and preach free to lots of people who never go to church, and all I make at work outside of a bare living goes to help save souls, and since man's extremity is God's opportunity, I find it a wonderful asset in trying to render my body a living sacrifice for God.

I have full charge, and my superintendent is W. V. Bennett, of Winchester. E. B. Taul and I have the same office. Just call for Noel Hodges. I stood number one on the May bulletin and the company gave me first prize check and paid all expenses to Louisville and back.

Activities of State Board of Health

Altogether 3,360 inspections were made by the two inspectors of the State Board of Health's Bureau of Pure Food and Drugs in 1921, according to Miss Sarah Vance, director of the bureau, who has just finished tabulation of the work done last year.

Some of these inspections were made in every county in Kentucky with eight exceptions. Two hundred and eighty-five communities in all were visited by the inspectors.

The kind of places inspected included bakeries, bottling plants, groceries, dairies, hotels, restaurants, soda fountains, slaughter houses, ice cream plants, food factories, produce houses and patent medicine factories. Fifty-four summer resorts were also visited.

The bureau of pure food and drugs will employ a third inspector after July 1, Miss Vance said, and this will permit great extension of its usefulness to the people of the state.

FIGHT LAW FOR

PURE ELECTIONS

Republican action to test the new registration law, expected to be initiated in the Franklin circuit court, was interpreted as a fear of clean elections by Judge Charles A. Hardin, chairman of the Democratic state central and executive committees.

"It is passing strange," said Judge Hardin, "that a duly organized political body would institute a suit to test a law that seeks to purify elections. The registration law has for its sole purpose clean elections. It contains no partisan provisions whatever. It imposes exactly the same conditions on all political parties, playing no favorites."

"It strikes the Democratic leadership that any party which is afraid of this law must object to clean elections."

"I am amazed that the Republican party would put itself on record as fighting a law designed to bring an honest election. The only criticisms of the law that I have heard were that it would cause inconvenience or cost something for its administration. No one of responsibility has accused it of being partisan. Anyone who reads it can see that it can't be used by either organization in a selfish way. Any organization which puts itself on record as opposing electoral machinery which insures pure elections is doomed to fail."

Under the state-wide registration law no longer the groups of repeaters can be swung from poll to poll; from county to county; from state to state in border counties, to create artificial and corrupt majorities. No longer can the transients and families who are not entitled to vote secure the privilege through corrupt election officers. No longer can the corruptionist, by use of unlimited corruption funds, be effective as under the old law. No longer can the unnaturalized citizen vote in the mining camps of Kentucky. The registration law is not for the benefit of either party, but to bring about clean and pure elections.

"In my opinion this law is one of the most progressive laws ever enacted by the legislature in our state. It renders possible the enactment of all progressive laws which are concurred in by the majority of the electorate, and thereby secures a foundation of justice consistent with Democratic principle and the certain support of the people.—Louisville Evening Post.

Produce Review

Live poultry continues to move in large volume, which has caused lower prices for both live and dressed fowls in the large consuming centers. Prospects are for continued good movement during the remainder of June.

Live young chickens of broiler size are arriving in the consuming markets in larger quantities and as a consequence the selling prices have worked to a lower level. The general impression seems to be that the number of young chickens raised this year is very heavy and from now on will move in larger quantities each week.

Hot weather is causing further deterioration in quality of eggs, which are moving in normal quantities for the season of the year. The demand is not as good as it should be and eggs are still going into storage in liberal quantities. Demand at the present time is for eggs of fine quality and the producers can help this situation considerably by gathering their eggs once or twice each day, keeping them in cool places, and marketing them several times each week.

Production of butter is now about at the high point, but as there is good demand both for immediate use and for storage purposes, the market continues on a high level. If present hot weather continues, especially without rain, it will have considerable effect on the pastures, which will mean decreased production.

MADE GOOD

Almost two years ago Noel Hodges located in this city as an insurance agent. We remember the good name that came with him and what we said after looking the young man over. That he has made good and has led in his work until he stands at the top is no surprise to us, for we think we know a man of merit when we look him over. His company has attractive policies, has representative men as its agents who never tire in extending courteous treatment. It is the company and men who have done work that has brought about flattering results. During this period of almost two years Mr. Hodges has taken a course in theology and has given Sundays in preaching the Word. Mr. Hodges is to be commended for his achievements during these two years.

A. B. OLDHAM & SON

A New Store

The large and beautiful business room on North Maysville street in the Old National Hotel building has been rented to Lerman Bros., Cynthia, who on August 15 will open a men's and women's ready-to-wear and dry goods store. This is, as we understand, a strong firm and this store is to be another link in the chain of stores now being operated by the concern. This firm will meet with a hearty welcome here and will add greater motor power in drawing trade to Mt. Sterling, the most aggressive city to the square foot in the south.

We might add in this connection that this store has been vacant for several months, due to the fact that it is one of the largest in the city and few have thought it a very attractive place, but since the location of the new hotel corner of Maysville and High streets, less than a half block beyond it, many firms have been thinking of occupying it. We are informed that Mrs. Barnes would add a mate to this attractive room should the proper company apply for it. See what the new hotel is doing! Even before the cornerstone has been laid for this attractive trade-drawing building, business is beginning to turn that way.

HOWARD'S MILL MEETING

The all-day meeting at the Howard's Mill Baptist church was largely attended Sunday. There was a great sermon, with excellent music. Dinner was served on the ground and after the crowd had been fed food was taken up by the basketful. The protracted meeting now in progress, Rev. J. W. Black, former pastor, preaching, will continue during the week, 7:45 p. m. being the preaching hour. Preaching Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and again at 7:45 in the evening. Everybody is invited.

"AT THE STAGE DOOR"

FULL OF FINE DRAMA

With his unique faculty for selecting big and timely themes and developing them into powerful stories for the screen, William Christy Cabanne has achieved another triumph with his most recent R-C. production, "At the Stage Door," scheduled for exhibition at the Tabb Theatre on Wednesday night.

Mr. Cabanne not only directed the production himself, but he also wrote the story, taking for his theme the conquest of temptation by a young and beautiful girl from the country who goes to New York to seek success on the stage. Mr. Cabanne presents a vivid picture of theater life in New York and the stage scenes are among the most interesting in the production.

"At the Stage Door" makes no pretention of being a big sermon or problem play. It presents, on the other hand, some good, homely philosophy and is certain to send theatergoers home with a feeling of happiness and renewed faith in the goodness of young women.

Among the stars in the cast is Billie Dove, famous beauty of the "Ziegfeld Follies," and many other popular with Mt. Sterling picture fans.

EDITOR HONORED

Here's a story published in an exchange which shows how greatly the people of a community in Kansas appreciated their editor: "In appreciation of the work of a Kansas editor for their community a bunch of citizens recently presented him with a bouquet. On the same occasion a quartet from a local church sang a few sweet songs and the minister made a little talk. After the minister's talk six husky men carried the popular editor from the house, placed him tenderly in a model 1922 plumbed sedan and the whole town formed a parade behind the editor's expensive car. After the parade the appreciative crowd returned to their homes serene in the thought of having provided one bright day in the life of their local news purveyor, even if they did wait until he was dead to do it."

MY MOTHER

Of all the dear faces on earth to me it is my Mother's I wish to see; How well I remember and think of the day

When I knelt at your knee and you taught me to pray. I love you for it; I'll praise you more When we meet up yonder on that beautiful shore.

Oh, Mother of all Mothers, I love you so, And to Heaven I know you are bound to go.

My mother, so patient, so good and so true, No mother on earth is so good as you; Your steps are feeble, your hair is gray—

I'll be so sad when you have gone away, But you'll not be lonely when you get up there, And your baby girl will meet you on that golden stair.

My own sweet Mother, my heart is rent That your sweet, noble life is almost spent;

But I'll try to be brave and think like this, That you'll live in Heaven in rapture and bliss.

So, Mother, be happy and don't feel sad, I am not far away—that's not so bad; I am thinking of you and each night I pray—

I am proud of my Mother, who taught me the way. When from this earth to Heaven you have gone This world will lose its most precious charm.

I am proud to know you are loved so well; That, my Mother, I am glad to tell. My Mother, this message I send to you, Both love and kisses I send you, too. My business, it's dull and hardly worth while;

If I don't get nickels I do get smiles. Now, Mother, don't worry, I'm coming home soon, I'll bring my banjo and play you a tune;

Oh, Mother, be cheerful and don't feel sad; This message I send you—it was all I had. I am with good people, as you shall see, And old Mt. Sterling is the place for me.

Now, Mother, goodbye, I will have to say, I will write to you another day. Goodbye, dear Mother, as all is well; This message was written by your own Ada Belle.

HUNGRY CHILDREN

A mother was looking over a box old old photographs and her little boys was an interested watcher by her side. As one picture came into view the boy exclaimed, "Whenever I see a picture of Auntie Gertrude it makes me feel hungry." Afterwards he explained that it was because she brought him so many good things to eat.

The aunt referred to was a very busy woman, yet she always managed to find time to slip a gingerbread man, or a popcorn ball, or a surprise package into her bag for the children where she visited. Another child never forgot a basket trimmed with colored tissue paper, holding home baked cookies that her aunt brought to her after she had been sick.

Food plays an important part in a child's life and a mother may teach by it as well as by other things. All children love surprises, and little faces brighten on stormy days when a raisin cake baked in their own little pan appears, or a lunch box dinner is placed on the playroom table with dainty sandwiches and fruit, and many a bit of candy or a few nuts.

Any little boy or girl likes to learn to cook when mother is cooking and though that it not an especially good time for mother in one way, yet in another way it is the best time, for children are happy when busy and learn quickly when interested. When mother makes bread, the little tot should have a ball of dough and a raisin or a bit of jam to make a biscuit. If the child has dishes large enough—and this is important, for there should be a small pan or unbreakable dish to do the cooking in—the work can be done exactly as mother does it and therefrom come the first lessons in cooking.

"I could turn those doughnuts," suggested a small boy to his grandmother, who was making the toothsome goodies. She started to turn him away as she was busy and a bit nervous, but thought better of it and showed the child just how carefully it must be done. Consequently he turned every single one in a most grown-up way and informed the family proudly that night, "Grandma and I made doughnuts today."

The ten-cent store has many a small tin and enamel pan that would make a start towards a little girl's cooking set, and would give her lots of pleasure and profit if she learned to take care of the pans and to cook simple things in them. The best way of all is to suggest to a child that a biscuit be made for daddy's supper, or a tiny cake as a surprise for a playmate. Thus the lessons in cooking, planning and unselfishness are learned together.—Lydia Lion Roberts.

BANKERS FOR HANDLING OTHER CROPS SAPIRO WAY

Group eight of the Kentucky Bankers' Association, in session recently at Crab Orchard, endorsed the work of the Burley Co-operative Marketing Association and adopted the following resolution:

"That we approve the method of co-operation known as the California plan and extend to the officers and directors of the Burley Co-operative Marketing Association our thanks for the masterful way in which its affairs have been managed.

"We believe in the extension of the plan to other commodities than tobacco, and pledge our continued support and co-operation to the farmers and tobacco growers in this district."

TEACHERS, TAKE LOCAL PAPER

If you mean merely to "keep school" the local paper is not essential. If, on the other hand, you are a real, honest-to-goodness teacher (and therefore a leader) the local paper is one of the tools that you must have.

You should supply the pupils from fresh living water and not from a stagnant pool. Hence you will need the local paper with which to illustrate civics, geography, current events, etc., etc.

Then, too, you must remember that nine times out of ten the one person who will take the time to cooperate with you is the editor of the local paper. He is not mercenary, or he would have chosen another calling. He, like you, is interested in everything for the good of the people. He may make mistakes, and doubtless will, but his heart is in the right place. He is anxious to do everything possible for you and your school, but he is a very busy man, often overworked and underpaid.

When you arrive in town you should let everything go until you have looked up the editor and given him your subscription. There's no excuse to neglect this moral support that you owe to your best friend. You may be broke. Tell the editor. You will get his sympathy. No one has been there more often than he, and nothing will please him more than to send the paper until you get a check.

Should you have a hard community get the patrons to subscribe for the local paper. You may rest assured that a small per cent of such communities take their paper.

Thus you will show your leadership by co-operating with the most influential factor of your community.—Kentucky School News.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Faint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since... I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

PASTURES YIELD HALF OF WHAT THEY SHOULD

Kentucky has a pasture acreage equal to that of all other crops combined that is producing not more than one-half of what it should in the way of feed for livestock, according to R. E. Stephenson, soils specialist of the College of Agriculture. The best bluegrass pasture will carry about one steer an acre during favorable seasons, but in many pasture fields found in the state several acres are required to maintain a single animal. Much of this land, which is too poor to furnish profitable pasture, can be brought to a profitable state of productivity by proper fertilization, he said.

"In general, basic slag stands in high favor as a grass fertilizer. However, the use of acid phosphate and a light application of finely ground limestone should prove equally as satisfactory. The growing of clover improves the grazing quality of pastures and at the same time improves the soil and yield of grass. However, on poor, sour soils, few clovers will succeed without the use of limestone.

"If all manure is returned to pastures, it is rather inexpensive to maintain the phosphorous supply of the soil. Each 100 pounds of meat and each 10,000 pounds of milk produced on a pasture remove about as much phosphorous as is supplied by 100 pounds of 16 per cent acid phosphate. The cost of maintaining the phosphorous supply should not exceed 20 cents an acre a year, a 200-pound application being sufficient to replace what the animals remove for several years, provided the manure is returned."

"Nearly all old pasture fields are poor in nitrogen and organic matter. The only practical way to supply the nitrogen is by growing a legume. White clover, Japan clover and red clover all are found to some extent in pastures and by the use of lime and other fertilizers may be made to grow abundantly. As a rule, soils are well stocked with potash, about 90 per cent of it being returned in the manure. There seldom is any need for other application of potash when the manure is cared for properly."

There were 359,339 fewer meat animals slaughtered in the United States under federal inspection during April this year than last, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. To this shortage sheep and lambs contributed 391,511, hogs 57,533, cattle 577 and calves 218.

Recollections of Mt. Sterling Fifty Years Ago

By Rev. J. Pike Powers, D. D., L. L. D.

I went to Mt. Sterling soon after my ordination to the gospel ministry in Augusta, Bracken county, Kentucky, on June 10, 1869. It may be interesting to some of my older friends to mention the names of the presbytery who set me apart. Dr. A. W. Chambliss, pastor of the Baptist church of Maysville, was chairman and examiner. (He was the grandfather of the present distinguished mayor of Chattanooga). Associated with him were Rev. George F. Bagby, of Virginia; Rev. J. O. Kirk, of Virginia; Rev. William E. Chambliss, of Missouri; Rev. J. M. Bent, pastor at Augusta, Ky.; John W. Brown, of Sharpsburg, and Rev. Cleon Keyes, of Lewisburg. The examination was written and the discussion of the questions involved kept me on the stand for three hours. I went to Mt. Sterling as a missionary under the Bracken Association and the state executive board, uniting in my support.

On my way I stopped at Sharpsburg, where I was cordially received and entertained by the very kind and hospitable family of Brother Sanford Allen, who gave me a letter of introduction to Mr. Robert Barnes, a prominent merchant and admirable gentleman, who introduced me to several of his friends, among them Dr. Benjamin P. Drake, who in early life was pastor of Old Cane Run Baptist church in Fayette county, and afterward was professor of materia medica in Transylvania University at Lexington. He was a man of large natural endowment, knowledge and skill. He received me with courtesy and dignity and after listening to the statement of my mission to the Gate City of the Mountains observed, "We have no place for you here; the ground is already fully occupied by other denominations." I replied that if there had been a strong Baptist church in Mt. Sterling, I would not have been sent; as there was none, my purpose was to establish one. "Well, sir," he replied, "I like the way you talk and will co-operate with you, but as we have so few Baptists here and none who can take care of you and your riding horse, I would advise you to locate in Owingsville, where you can live cheaply and be nearer the center of your mission field," which then included Wyoming, at the mouth of Slate creek in Bath county. This I decided to do. My first night in Mt. Sterling was spent with Mr. George Hazelrigg, an old and honored member of the Christian church. He lived on the hill east of the Camargo pike at Uncle Dillard Hazelrigg's place. When inviting me, he jocularly said: "These poor Baptists here in town have no place to keep you or your horse." He was about right, and I shall never cease to appreciate his gracious hospitality to an entire stranger, and our pleasant and fraternal discussion that night of the great doctrine of "Justification by faith" as presented by Paul and James in their writings. Of course, we differed in our views, but I trust each of us was trying to speak the truth in love. There were only about half a dozen Baptists in town—Dr. Drake, Dr. and Mrs. James Thornley, "Bob" Garrett, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mr. Lancaster, and, as far as I could discover, about two dozen in the county—Mrs. Elizabeth Donohue, who was a mother to me; Mrs. Nancy White, Sam Will and daughter, Mrs. Carrington; Mrs. Oldham and daughter, Mrs. Greene; John Oldham and wife, Nannie; Minnie Tipton and his son, James D.; Nimrod Wilkerson, Stephen Treadway and wife, Mrs. Ellis Dean, Mrs. John A. Thomson, Mrs. Virginia Chenault and Nannie Bridgforth. Nearly all of these were members of the Lulburg church. The patriarch, Samuel O'Horn, and Mrs. John Martin attended meetings there, but they lived in Clark county. Many of these were devout Christians and loyal friends, whose memory is sacred. Dear Brother Tipton often rode with me when I first canvassed the field from house to house and dear Mrs. Donohue furnished me a prophet's chamber and a mother's heart of loving sympathy.

Renewed Testimony

No one in Mt. Sterling who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Mt. Sterling woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Mt. Sterling resident can doubt.

Mrs. J. C. McDonald, 115 Queen St., Mt. Sterling, says: "I suffered with backache and had no energy to do my work, especially mornings. I had such dizzy spells I would almost fall. I had frequent headaches and nervous spells. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Land & Priest's Drug Store and they strengthened my back, relieved the dizziness, headaches and other symptoms of kidney trouble."

Mrs. McDonald gave the above statement January 6, 1917, and on December 11, 1920, she added: "I have always a good word for Doan's since they cured me of kidney trouble. I am glad to again give them my endorsement."

SPRAYING WITH KEROSENE REMEDY AGAINST LAWN ANTS

To get rid of lawn ants entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture suggest drenching the nests with boiling water or pouring in a small quantity of kerosene. Similar treatment may be applied to nests between or beneath paving stones. Spraying the lawn with kerosene emulsion or with very strong soap wash is also recommended. For large ant nests disulphid of carbon injected into the nest by means of an oil can or a small syringe is recommended to kill the ants. The fumes of disulphid of carbon have a very disagreeable odor and are inflammable, but they are not injurious to higher animals in the open air.

SILAGE MIXTURES TESTED FOR STEERS IN THE SOUTH

To get results economically most cattle feeders should use some kind of silage in the rations, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Steers fed on silage usually not only make more economical gains, shrink less, and make more profits than steers fed on dry roughage, but also make it possible to utilize crops grown primarily in a rotation or restoring the fertility of wornout lands.

The comparative value of a number of different silage crops for the steer feeding was recently worked out by the department in co-operation with the Louisiana experiment station. In one instance similar lots of cattle were fed a ration of cottonseed meal and blackstrap molasses in combination with corn silage, corn and Biloxi soybean silage, sorghum silage, sorghum and Biloxi soybean silage and Japanese cane and Biloxi soybean silage.

The best gain was made by the steers fed the straight corn silage, but it was shown that the capacity of a farm for fattening or wintering cattle may be greatly increased by the use of heavy yielding silage crops such as sorghum and Japanese cane. Immature Biloxi soybeans mixed with corn or sorghum were not so satisfactory, but with late maturing crops like Japanese cane these soys gave very good results. Sorghum silage and Japanese cane and Biloxi soybean silage are practically equal in feeding value for steers when supplemented by cottonseed meal and molasses.

Under an agreement recently entered into between the British government and the United States Department of Agriculture frozen pork cuts may now be imported into England.

STATES AID IN ELIMINATING RAILROAD GRADE CROSSINGS

What can be done when a community sets out to rid itself of the menace of railroad grade crossings is shown by the plans for a federal aid road to be constructed in Alabama between Arlton and Clayton. In a distance of about twenty-five miles the old road crossed the railroad fourteen times. By good engineering thirteen of these crossings have been eliminated, the remaining one being in the small town of Clio, where there are only three trains a day, and these move at slow speed as they approach the station.

Some months ago the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture announced that grade crossings would be eliminated on all federal aid highways wherever practicable. Officials of the bureau are receiving hearty co-operation from the state highway departments and the general approval of the public.

It has been found possible to revise many plans, keeping the road entirely on one side of the track or finding a suitable place where the road can cross beneath or above the track.

In some states the highway departments on account of existing legislation are having difficulty in inducing the railroad companies to share the cost of placing the highway over or under the track.

BOB WHITE AN ENEMY OF CORN ROOTWORM

The bob white eats the adults or beetles of the corn rootworm which lay the eggs that later become larvae or worms and infest the corn. As many as 12 of the beetles, according to the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture, have been found in the stomach of one bob white. The red-headed woodpecker, nighthawk, cardinal, kingbird and phoebe also eat the beetles and reduce the damage done by the southern corn rootworm.

JAIL SENTENCE IMPOSED ON BIRD LAW VIOLATOR

That there are strong teeth in the law protecting migratory birds was demonstrated recently by the federal judge for the eastern district of Arkansas when he sentenced to four months in jail a violator brought before him on the charge of setting wild ducks. This is the twelfth jail sentence imposed for infraction of the migratory bird treaty act, the sentences ranging from five days to six months. The states where jail sentences had previously been imposed are Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, New Jersey, South Carolina and Virginia. The act is administered by the United States Department of Agriculture.
